The fee for a transfer of license from place to place or from person to person is hereby fixed in the sum of one hundred dollars ($100) for each transfer.

Section 3. No person shall manufacture or sell any malt or brewed liquors or any other liquid of which distilled or ardent spirits or spirituous liquors form a component part, unless he shall first procure a license so to do; provided, however, that this section shall not apply to duly registered pharmacists having a fixed place of business and selling therein any of the aforesaid liquids, spirits or spirituous liquors which shall be compounded, used and approved for medicine, in accordance with law.

Section 6. The Director of the Department having control and supervision of the License Division shall have the power to suspend or revoke the license herein provided for whenever he shall determine that there is reasonable ground for so doing. Before revoking such license he shall cause a notice in writing to be served upon the person named in said license citing him to appear before said Director at such time and place as the latter may designate, at which time and place such person shall be afforded a hearing and interpose his objections and defense prior to the taking of final action by said Director.

Section 11. Wherever the words "malt or brewed liquors or liquid of which distilled or ardent spirits or spirituous liquors form a component part" are used in this ordinance they shall each be construed to mean malt or brewed liquors or any liquid of which distilled or ardent spirits or spirituous liquors form a component part containing less than one-half of one per centum of alcohol by volume and which are used or are to be used for beverage purposes.

The roll being called, the motion was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas:—Commissioners Breidenbach, Brennan, Gillen, Raymond.

Commissioner Breidenbach moved that the ordinance be taken up on third reading and final passage on February 28th, 1922.

The roll being called, the motion was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas:—Commissioners Breidenbach, Brennan, Gillen, Raymond.

Commissioner Raymond: Do I understand that the balances from the assessments for street improvements are put in this tax ordinance as a whole?

Corporation Counsel Congleton: Yes, the city's share.

Commissioner Raymond: What does that amount to?

Corporation Counsel Congleton: In some cases that is over 40 per cent.

Commissioner Raymond: I do not think that is fair to the people of Newark. Is it not possible to take that out of the budget. It just comes to my attention that this is the way this matter is financed. It is very unfair that we should have to pay out of one year's taxes for improvements of this kind. I think if there was something we could do to take it out of the budget it would be a very good idea, especially now when we have so many great arteries with the tremendous increased traffic making such improvements necessary. The situation is very different than in the old days, when streets were more or less properly assessed. I wish there was some way that could be devised to amend this ordinance and take care of these improvements either by temporary or permanent bonds for amounts which represent the pavement of streets. I do not think this Commission should bear the responsibility for these improvements.

Corporation Counsel Congleton: The ordinance is made up of your various budgets and these amounts are already included in your budget. You have held a public hearing on it and it would require readvertising and further hearings and the time within which that can be done has now passed.

The following communications on the death of the Late Honorable Alexander Archibald were received and read:

Newark, N. J., February 11, 1922.

Hon. Board of Commissioners,
City Hall,
Newark, N. J.
Honorable Sir:

It is with profound regret that I have just learned of the death of your highly esteemed Mayor, The Honorable Alexander Archibald, and I hasten to express to you on behalf of my Government my most Sincere and deepfelt condolence.

I beg to remain, Sirs,

Yours respectfully,

John Randolph Bull,

Vice-Consulate of Norway.

Newark, N. J. February 13, 1922.

At a special officers meeting of the Polish Relief Committee the following resolutions were adopted:

The American citizens of Polish descent and those Poles who have not yet attained the honor of American citizenship all wish to join in the universal expressions of sorrow and regret at the death of our illustrious Mayor, Alexander Archibald.

The untimely death of our Mayor is a calamity and a serious loss to all residents of Newark.

The Poles of Newark knew him well through personal contact at our various meetings and celebrations. We all remember his work, and appreciate his generous aid in the Polish Government Bond Campaign in the year 1920. In his death we have suffered a personal loss.

We mourn him as a citizen and a friend, and our heartfelt sympathy is extended to the sorrowing widow of our illustrious deceased.

Polish Relief Committee.

Joseph Czehcowicz, President,
Paul Pomianek, Secretary.

At a special meeting of the Board of Trustees of The Contemporary of Newark, New Jersey, held February 13, 1922, the following resolution was adopted and at a regular meeting of the Club, held February 14, 1922, the resolution was unanimously ratified by standing vote.

WHEREAS: God in his inscrutable but infinite wisdom has called the spirit of Alexander Archibald, the beloved Mayor of our City, from the narrow limits of earthly life to the limitless realms of eternal life, while still in the midst of his career of great usefulness to this community; be it

RESOLVED: That in his death this Club has lost a friend, true, sincere and kindly, and this Community a servant of public spirit, modest demeanor, high ideals and rare attainments for the commonweal, whose example of untiring and faithful service to his fellow men and self-sacrificing life devoted to the good of others will be long cherished in the hearts and memories of those who follow. And be it further

RESOLVED: That the secretary forward a copy of this resolution to his bereaved family with the expression of our deep sympathy in their sorrow, and to the Commissioners of the City of Newark with the request that it be spread upon their minutes.

(Mrs. J. Frederic) Edna B. Wherry, President.

(Mrs. C. B.) Alberta M. Johnes,
Recording Secretary.

The Trustees of the Free Public Library of the City of Newark wish to put on record their appreciation of the great loss they have sustained in the death of the Honorable Alexander Archibald, our Mayor, and the President of our Board, and to extend their sincere sympathy to his widow and family on their great bereavement.

Mr. Archibald was a friend of the library and a man who took a keen interest in all the educational affairs of the city.

His sound judgment and his good advice, presented always in his quiet, restrained manner which was native to him, will be sadly missed by all of the Board.

His duties as Mayor were exacting, and yet he found time to attend most of the meetings of the Board and to help its members to solve intelligently the problems which came before them.

The recent step in establishing city-owned branches met with his hearty approval, and he had already worked out a plan for the establishment of branches in each of the different sections of the city, as fast as the City's finances warranted.

He was one of the charter members of the Museum Association, and its connection with the library always pleased him.

Men come and men go, but it is not often that one steps so quietly and gently into a place of honor as did Mayor Archibald. His place will be hard to fill, especially in library matters.

His interest in the proposed enlargement of the main library building was keen. He showed plainly his desire to enable the Board to do better and larger work.

Though a comparatively young man, as life is measured today, he was known all over the State, and his ambition had attracted the people's attention and his future was almost assured in a position of great responsibility.

What was said of the late Theodore Roosevelt can truly be said of our friend, Alexander Archibald, "He left every position the better for his having occupied it."

In adopting the above, at a special meeting held on Saturday, February 11, 1922, the Trustees instructed the Secretary of the Board to forward copies thereof to Mayor Archibald's family, to the members of the City Commission, and to the Press of Newark.

J. C. Dana, Secretary,
For the Board of Trustees.

February 11, 1922.

The Trustees of the Newark Museum Association, at a special meeting held Saturday, February 11,

...22, adopted the following resolution in relation to the death of The Hon. Alexander Archibald, our Mayor, and a charter member of the board, and voted to extend their sincere sympathy to his widow and family in their bereavement, and instructed that copies of this statement be sent to the Mayor's family and to the City Commission and to the Newark papers.

Mr. Alexander Archibald has been an earnest advocate, from the very first, of the suggestion that the city develop for itself an adequate museum. His vision was of an institution of wide scope which should promote an active and informed interest in the sciences and in our City's industries as well as in the fine and applied arts. He approved of the movement now on foot to secure for the Museum a permanent and adequate home, and approved also of extending to its development all the aid which the city's finances would permit. The Trustees feel that his death brings to them a serious loss in that they will miss the vision and sound judgment which Mr. Archibald showed in all discussions of the development of Newark's institutions.

J. C. Dana, Secretary
For the Board of Trustees.

Commissioner Brennan moved that the resolutions adopted by the various organizations be received and that they be spread in full upon the minutes of this Board.

The roll being called the motion was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas:—Commissioners Breidenbach, Brennan, Gillen, Raymond.

Commissioner Raymond: I would like to offer a motion to the effect that the very beautiful eulogy made by Dr. Vincent at the South Park Presbyterian Church which so splendidly set forth the life of our late Mayor, be spread in full upon the minutes.

The roll being called the motion was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas:—Commissioners Breidenbach, Brennan, Gillen, Raymond

It has been a pilgrimage of sorrow through which we all have passed this day, and we have reached the last of three great vantage points from which to view the life of Alexander Archibald. We stood within the home and saw again the marks of a great true heart, stilled now, but throbbing once with love and loyalty. We passed on to the City Hall and saw the workman lying dead by his machine. And now, we come into this church and think here of the fledgling soul that here on earth in these few years have caught a glimpse of greater things and of a fadeless glory, and now has taken flight on not too weary wings into that other realm where it may rest a little while and find a blessed peace in the release from these last days of pain, and then go on and up to greater heights and new experience.

It is a familiar commonplace that the most important things are the ones of which we are least conscience in our lives. The air we breathe, the light, the law of gravitation, the circulation of the blood, or the digestive processes within ourselves—these are things on which we are dependent every hour, yet of which we are scarcely conscious until they are withdrawn. I think it a striking testimonial, alike to the modesty and efficiency of the work of Mr. Archibald, that we scarcely realized his worth, the place he held in our affections, or his importance to the city's life, until death had caught him from us in a day. Then, as the hot iron brings out the invisible writing on the page, so this time of shock and sorrow has brought to view in every corner of the town the honor and affection in which this modest man was held.

There is something significant about the kind of men, as well as the number of individuals, a single personality can find it possible to win and to impress by the qualities within his life. I can understand a man making friends within his own profession, his business, or his normal social set. Here was the striking thing about Mr. Archibald—that he drew friends from almost every walk of life. He had his admirers among the rich and the poor the well-born and the self-made man, and was unaffected in his loyalty to each. The years brought many friends and many contacts—an ever larger circle of acquaintances. And from a worldly point of view there were advantages in some of these new friendships beyond those he had in early life. But this was the quality of Mr. Archibald—that he never forgot those that had loved him and he gave himself with interest and devotion to their needs. In heart after heart the cords of sorrow echo to the grief that fills our hearts today, swelling once more the volume of that "still, sad music of humanity" with which we await the meeting once again with those whom we have loved and lost a while.

Mr. Archibald was a clean man who, despite the fact that he was forced to deal with many people and with many tasks that might have left a taint on his own soul, emerged from the rather turbid strain of public life an essentially unspoiled, uncorrupted man. He thought straight; he was like light—he knew no devious paths. He could see through shams and spoke his mind as forcibly as almost anyone I ever knew. Yet, he was intensely kindly, gentle, sympathetic. He could see the latent good and speak as fairly, as justly, and with as much appreciation of the good he realized as any one. His smile, his kind word of appreciation, or approval, must have been a Godsend to many a struggling, fainting, disappointed life. Even in times of greatest passion, he could exercise a self-control that was the marvel of less well trained men. I have seen him in the face of a situation that opened wide all the wells of wrath within his soul—when things had gone against his mind, against the things he thought were wise and right—standing as with tight clenched fists, his face burning with the anger he would not let come out, still keeping himself utterly in hand that he might not sacrifice a future good for the self satisfaction of the irritation of an hour.

He was a democratic man, open and approachable to all almost too much for his own health's sake. Yet, never for one moment did he lose either his personal dignity of character, or his sense of the high position that he held before the world. He was a modest man; he knew his powers, knew the important things that he could do; yet realized his limitations and ever had the sense of attainments not yet reached. He tried to look with justice upon the gifts

... possessed—to use them to the full—yet never so to over-rate himself as to be caught, through idle boastfulness, in a position to which he felt he could not measure up. He was an honest, conscientious, energetic man, whose very walk and figure spoke of concentration on important business to which he gave himself without pretension or pomposity, but with undivided thought. It would be difficult for all of us to think that it was not his hard work, in part at least, that brought his early death.

He was withal a lovable, affectionate, human man, to whom men loved to come; one who stood by the sterling worth of his good qualities, like some great magnet towards which hearts turned like needles to the pole, and there were held to truth, to honor, to righteousness, to the courageous thing to do in any circumstances of life. We feel, some of us at least, like ships without a rudder, that know not how to steer since he is gone.

This was the man that Newark chose for the highest place within her gift. In honoring him, she honored herself. "The character of a city," said the old Aeschines, "is determined by the character of the men she crowns." It requires no little discipline of mind in a democracy to choose in such a many-sided town as this, with insight and with justice, the men who can guide her to her very best. Fifty years from now the question will not be what we think of Alexander Archibald, but what he thinks of us of what sort will be the men we chose to follow in his steps.

Turning now from the personal qualities to the achievement of his public life, the thing that strikes the eye at the time is the extent to which in his career he has given one more illustration of the opportunity America can give to any man. Coming here as the child of immigrant parentage, arriving in Newark when but three years of age, he had no capital, no connections and no position of advantage. Gaining his education in our public schools, working out his business career by beginning as an apprentice, building up his political success by beginning as an Alderman in the old Fourth Ward, he achieved success and real distinction in every field to which he went. He was a gentleman of taste and refinement; a business man whose reputation both for artistry and integrity was unsurpassed, and, as a public officer occupying a position of trust and responsibility, he never failed to leave a position that he undertook the better for his work. His record stands as one more monument to opportunities this land of ours flings down to every man. They say the days of our romance are dead, the doors of opportunity are closed and there are no more places to be won by men who start with only native wit. Against such idle words the life of Alexander Archibald stands a conspicuous witness that the opposite is true.

I think it must have been, in part, because of this that his whole public life stood four-square for America. Himself an immigrant, never bigoted in the sense that he could see no good and learn no lesson from lands beyond the sea, called to leadership at a period when many influences were working for the interests of nationalities other than our own, he stood as an American. American were his instincts, and American were the interests that he served. This aspect of his life received a striking illustration in the plan that had been made for a little celebration in which his illness prevented him from taking his appointed part. There had come to our country a distinguished and talented physician from another land, who had not found the door of welcome very widely opened to his skill in certain places where he went. But Newark planned to give him every chance to do his work, to honor him and to show appreciation of his gift. But into his hands as he came into our midst, Alexander Archibald was to place, as the representative of the school children of our town, an American flag. So through all of life, he sought to open wide our doors to talent, to industry, to all who wished to serve, but into every heart that came to us like that he would instill America's spirit, America's ideals and America's hopes.

Equally, if not more intensely than his devotion to America, was his devotion to the city to which he gave his life. He had great plans for Newark, but they were not mere air-castles such as crowd the streets of too many cities of our land. He was not a visionary, not a fanatic, not even in the ordinary sense of the word a reformer. He took Newark as he found it sought to give efficient service in the existing offices in which he was called upon to serve; then planned to build on this foundation the greater things of the development of the Port and the unification of all the municipalities in the Newark area. His was a progressive spirit, yet never were the issues that he raised factitious, or unreal, or calculated to secure only his personal political success. He was forward-looking, but it was for the city, not for his official place. Never was this more perfectly emphasized than at the close of the complimentary dinner given in his honor two years ago at the Robert Treat Hotel. The leading citizens of the whole community were there. The wealth, the culture, everything that Newark had were brought and laid in tribute at his feet. It was in every way a personal affair—a tribute to his personal position in the town. The speeches had been made, the presentations had been given, and then the time arrived for his reply. He spoke his words of gratitude in two or three sentences, marked with the deepest feeling, for he craved appreciation quite as much as any man. But then he turned the situation to another line, and addressing himself first to the members of the Congressional Committee on Harbor Improvements, who were honor guests on that occasion, and then to the great body of leading citizens from all the town, he pledged himself and called on them to pledge themselves never to rest nor be content until our channel had been deepened. Newark had been given outlet to the sea, and become the greatest strategic shipping center of the East. Nothing could have been more characteristic of his life. I remember him confiding to me on one occasion that it was his fond hope to attract into the public service, on boards and commissions, men of the highest type of business ability, men of assured position and of independent means who would be willing to give with public spirit out of their ability to the service of the common good. Of that ideal he was himself a living type. As Director of Finance he saved hundreds of thousands of dollars for our City; as Mayor he directed our interests and energies to the development of the greatest future such a town could have, and then in these last months of his career, as Director of the Department of Public Affairs, he gave of his great heartedness and the influence of his position to the care of the city's unfortunates in hospital, asylum and detention home.

To these great ends he brought not only ability, but tireless energy, following out detail, meeting conditions as he found them. Disliking many phases of political activity, he yet was willing to be a politician. He went from place to place, from man to man, from meeting to meeting, in a successful way, to arrange a campaign, to secure party unity, to bring harmony. It has been said by Mr. Lloyd George that what the world needs is not statesmen, we have an abundance of them, it is politicians. There is truth in the statement and Mr. Archibald had realized that truth. To be willing to meet people, to organize a party, to work out a campaign, to get an issue properly before the electorate that is a supreme need in a democracy—a need too few men of character and of ability are willing properly to meet, but to it Mr. Archibald was well content to give himself.

Yet with it all, this man never compromised his honor, or his honesty; he resorted to no cheap trickery in political life; he created no unreal issues, raised no unjustified battle cries. He had faith to believe that if he served the real interests of his city, and that with ability and energy, he would receive the backing that he sought and in that faith he has been justified.

Therein lay his power—in the simple straight forward honesty of his attack upon the task that came to hand. I have been reminded of an old anecdote of John Bright, the English orator: "I would give anything I own to have made that speech," said Disraeli once to Bright after a great utterance in the House of Commons. "You could," said the old Quaker statesman, "you could if you had been honest." Many a time I thought of that old anecdote as I have watched the effect of Mr. Archibalds addresses on men to whom he came to speak. With none of the arts of an orator, a business man in politics, as he loved to call himself, but the simple sincerity of his presentments, the disinterestedness fairness of his judgments, he commanded the intelligence of his hearers and won an action where a more eloquent man might only have made an impression.

We take him in a moment now to lie at rest beneath the sod, and we shall place a shaft or slab to mark his memory. But would you see his monument ten years, twenty years, 100 years from now? Visit Newark, look around you. Here, or nowhere, will his monument in truth be found. It is due us to build.

Into one phase of his life it is not permitted we should more than merely look. The sacred place where his heart lay open in the loves and intimacies that marked his home. I have been interested and impressed in my visits to that home by what I found there. Mr. Archibald belonged in a sense to the new Newark, its recent growth, its modern developments and business life, but his home was of the old, old town. For here was the thing he realized that new as must be our activities within the world, the sacred strength of inner life remains unchanged in love, and loyalty to those to whom we give ourselves. It was in the home that Mr. Archibald found his recreation and refreshment from his toilsome days. In the artistic house on Lincoln Park, or in that simple country place among the hills, without the excitement or exhaustion of more boisterous pursuits of pleasure, Mr. Archibald found rest, found joy, found hope and inspiration for his toil, in the loves and fellowships of home. It has been said that the capitol of America is not in Washington but in the American home. Certainly, the center of this man's life, the controlling influence of all his character was in that sacred circle where no intrusion was allowed, no distraction was permitted, but where he gave himself to the deepest, most rewarding things of life—in love of wife and child. It was from the home that he came into this church. But five months back, he sat upon this platform with me and two other speakers to urge by presence and influence the enlargement of this church's work for this community. Yet, it was not a minister, and not a business associate that brought him to this interest and this connection with an institution that stands especially for Christian life. It was the influence, the necessities, the implications of his home. It was the old, old story once again: "A little child shall lead them."

And now we say that he has gone, but in our hearts we know it is not true. We hoped for great things from his life and for himself. And now we say they cannot be done. It is not so. He has the greatest things and we may have them too. If there is anything we really know down in our hearts today, it is—he lives. This incident has made no final change in him, nor in his life. When Lincoln died, you remember that Stanton coming out of the death-chamber spoke to a group of secretaries and reporters and said, "Now he belongs to the ages." It was a fine thought, finely put, and it is a great thing for the ages. They need a Lincoln. But how about Lincoln himself: Is he to have no hold on life except the slender one that comes in the memories of unborn ages: I do not think that is the truth. He belongs not to the ages, but to the Ageless—to that great life where time is not the great essential thing, nor space a limitation on our acts, but where to have risen superior to the limits of the past, the present and the days to come, to live in an Eternal Now—to live as thought, as love, as understanding will.

Such is the reality of Mr. Archibald. He knew here things that do not change, that do not rest on time or place—honor, honesty, truth and love. He gave himself in ways that we have sought to show to these Eternal things. He has not died—he lives. He belongs to the Ageless now, with all just men who have found the consummation of their hopes.

In a Western city there used to live a famous maker of optical instruments who had ground the lenses for some of the greatest telescopes in existence and himself had studied astronomy for many years. To this old man there comes the loss through death of his beloved wife, but on her monument he wrote these words: "We have loved the stars too well, beloved, to have any fear of the dark." And here are stars—love, honor, honesty, truth interest in our fellowmen—what are these but "beacons from the abodes where the Eternal are." And we who know these stars can have no fear today for this which we call death.

We had hoped for greater things for Mayor Archibald—a greater Newark, perhaps a higher office yet in the state, or even in the nation's life. He had by no means reached the limits of his powers. He had shown surprising capacity to respond to even greater calls. He had but entered on his full development, but touched the surface in his reaching after higher, greater things. This is significant. He who provides food for the hunger of the flesh, love for the hunger of the heart, surely He has planned some where a greater life, a full development for this in-born hunger of the soul. He will not put us finally to intellectual confusion by denying the deepset instincts of our lives.

So let there be no mourning for the dead, no sorrow as though we had no hope, no thoughtless parting of an unknown, unseen, all mysterious other world. The essential things we know; God lives and he is God. "If," says the Apostle, "If Christ be arisen from the dead, set your minds on things that are above, where Christ sitteth at the right hand of God, and the peace of God which passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts and minds now and forever more."

Commissioner Brennan moved to adjourn.

The Board of Commissioners

NEWARK, N. J.,

February 20, 1922.

A Special meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the City of Newark, N. J., was held on the above date, in the Council Chamber, City Hall, Newark, at 11:30 A. M.

Present:—Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Raymond, Acting Mayor Breidenbach. Acting Mayor Breidenbach stated the object of this meeting was for the purpose of electing a Commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mayor Archibald.

Commissioner Brennan moved that we waive formal notification of the special meeting.

The roll being called, the motion was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas: — Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Raymond, Acting Mayor Breidenbach.

Commissioner Gillen moved that we proceed with the election of a Commissioner.

The roll being called, the motion was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas: — Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Raymond, Acting Mayor Breidenbach.

Acting Mayor Breidenbach: Nominations for a Commissioner will now be in order.

Commissioner Gillen: May I suggest that we have a little discussion before we proceed with the nominations. I have given this matter a great deal of consideration. It seems to some we ought to proceed very carefully in selecting a Commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mayor Archibald. I feel that we should elect a Democrat to succeed Mayor Archibald so as to maintain the same political complexion on the Board. Now, the argument has been advanced that the one candidate who received the highest number of votes next to the lowest man elected (Mr. Howe) should be elected to fill the vacancy. There is logic to this argument. I have no personal choice in the election of a Commissioner except that I feel, as I think you all feel, that we should elect a very capable man to fill this vacancy—a man who will serve the city faithfully, properly, intelligently and efficiently. Before any formal nominations are made I would like to state that I have been thinking the matter over very carefully and I have several names of Democrats that I would like to present. With your approval I would therefore like to mention these names: The first name I have in mind is that of William J. Egan, City Clerk. I think Mr. Egan would make an excellent Commissioner, because he has been City Clerk since Commission Government started. He has kept a record of the minutes of this Commission; he has attended the meetings quite regularly and he is thoroughly familiar with the work of this Board. I do not believe there is any doubt in the minds of any citizen of Newark as to his ability to occupy this position. I think he is capable and in view of his past experience I believe he would be a very great asset to this Commission.

I would also like to mention the name of ex-judge Lambert for your consideration. He is a highly respected citizen in this community; he has held office with credit to himself and the City.

I would offer the name of Simon P. Northrup for consideration. I would like to offer the name of Thomas F. Durning as well as the name of Fred M. Smith, who was Secretary to Mayor Archibald. He has had experience in Government affairs and would no doubt fill the vacancy to good advantage to the City.

I present these names for your favorable consideration and I trust that you will at least give earnest consideration to these names.

Acting Mayor Briedenbach: Are there any further nominations?

Commissioner Raymond: In reply to my colleague's remarks, I would say that it would give me a great deal of pleasure to vote for any one of these names, and I would be particularly happy to vote for Mr. Egan, as I feel he is capable to fill the vacancy. However, I do not feel that I have any personal choice in the selection of a Commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mayor Archibald. The gentlemen of this Commission were elected at the last election on their own merits and no party designation was placed opposite our names. We are here on whatever slight personal merits we may possess. I do not believe the citizens had in their minds the party complexion of this Commission when they voted at the last election.

It seems to me that the Legislation passed last week placing upon us the responsibility of electing a Commissioner to succeed our Mayor is a very embarrassing piece of legislation for us. I have no personal choice whatever in the selection of a Commissioner. I take it that the citizens of the City of Newark want the next highest man to the fifth Commissioner elected to this Board. In doing this we will merely be carrying out the wishes of the citizens. I have in mind Mr. John Howe who received some 36,000 votes in the last campaign, and if we appoint him to serve on this Board we will satisfy the great number of citizens who expressed their choice by popular vote. It seems to me the only thing we can do is to elect John Howe. I have no other name to suggest. I think it would reflect credit upon us, regardless of our political feelings, to take the man who had the next highest vote. I therefore nominate Mr. John Howe.

Commissioner Brennan: What Commissioner Raymond has said is quite true. There should be no party affiliations in the Commission. I feel that the votes cast by the people of the City of Newark last May simply indicated that they were desirous of living up to the spirit as well as the letter of Commission Government. That might be truly called a real non-partisan representative party, to govern this City. They elected two Republicans, two Independents and one organization Democrat.

I personally feel that the complexion of the Commission should be retained in the same political standing as it was returned by the election.

I have nothing but the highest regard for Mr. Howe, but I think the argument of his running the next highest number of votes falls flat, because of the fact that after two elections, one last April and May, and one four years ago, the people did not elect him, and there is no reason why we should consider changing the complexion of politics.

The names submitted by Commissioner Gillen are very good ones; all of them are good ones; but I would like to submit another name in addition to it—a man who requires no commendation at my hands, who was also a candidate at the last election, and served on this Board for three and a half years as a credit to himself, former Commissioner John F. Monahan. He is the man that I feel should be chosen, as he is a man who is capable of taking care of the City's interests.

Acting Mayor Breidenbach: I might say that I feel the same as Commissioner Raymond. The fact remains that the people of Newark know well that I was opposed to Mr. Howe a number of years ago, but I believe that I am not presenting the name of Mr. Howe because he is a Republican. I believe that being the sixth man on the list; regardless of his politics, he should be made a Commissioner. If it happened to be a Democrat, I would suggest the name of a Democrat to this Board. Therefore, I feel that it is my duty to present the name of Mr. John Howe.

Acting Mayor Breidenbach: Are there any other names to be presented?

Commissioner Gillen: Mr. William J. Egan.

Commissioner Breidenbach: Are there any further nominations to present?

Upon a call of the roll the Commissioners voted on the first ballot as follows:

Commissioner Brennan for John F. Monahan.

Commissioner Gillen for William J. Egan.

Commissioner Raymond for John Howe.

Commissioner Breidenbach for John Howe.

Acting Mayor Breidenbach: There being no majority, I declare no election. The clerk will call the roll.

Upon a call of the roll the Commissioners voted on the fifth ballot as follows:

Commissioner Brennan for John F. Monahan.

Commissioner Gillen for William J. Egan.

Commissioner Raymond for John Howe.

Commissioner Breidenbach for John Howe.

Acting Mayor Breidenbach: There being no majority, I declare no election.

Commissioner Brennan moved that we take a recess and reconvene at 2 P. M. this afternoon.

The roll being called, the motion was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas: — Commissioners, Brennan, Gillen, Raymond, Acting Mayor Breidenbach.

APPROVED:

F. C. BREIDENBACH,
CHARLES P. GILLEN,
THOMAS L. RAYMOND,
W. J. BRENNAN,

W. J. EGAN,
City Clerk.

The Board of Commissioners of the City of Newark, N. J., reconvened at 2:00 P. M., on the above date, in the Council Chamber, City Hall, Newark, for the purpose of electing a Commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mayor Archibald.

Present: Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Raymond, Acting Mayor Breidenbach.

Acting Mayor Breidenbach: The Board will now go into the election of a Commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mayor Archibald. The clerk will call the roll.

Upon a call of the roll the Commissioners voted on the sixth ballot as follows:

Commissioner Brennan for John F. Monahan.

Commissioner Gillen for William J. Egan.

Commissioner Raymond for John Howe.

Commissioner Breidenbach for John Howe.

Acting Mayor Breidenbach: There being no majority, I declare no election. The clerk will call the roll.

Upon a call of the roll the Commissioners voted on the seventh ballot as follows:

Commissioner Brennan for John F. Monahan.

Commissioner Gillen for William J. Egan.

Commissioner Raymond for John Howe.

Commissioner Breidenbach for John Howe.

Acting Mayor Breidenbach: There being no majority, I declare no election. The clerk will call the roll.

Upon a call of the roll the Commissioners voted on the eighth ballot as follows:

Commissioner Brennan for John F. Monahan.

Commissioner Gillen: We have been deadlocked now for some time, and it seems it will continue so for some time to come. My first opinion was there should have been a Democrat placed in the position left vacant by the death of Mayor Archibald. However, even myself and Commissioner Brennan are not agreed on any one particular Democrat, although we both desire to see a Democrat placed in this position. Our Republican colleagues on the contrary, Commissioner Raymond and Commissioner Breidenbach, are agreed upon Commissioner Howe, for the reason that he was the highest man outside of the five elected members in the last campaign. They contend of course, that that was an expression of opinion on the part of the voters of the City that they prefer Commissioner Howe. While this has been well stated by my colleagues this morning, this is supposed to be a non-partisan body and it certainly has been so far as I have been able to observe since I have been a member of it. It has been a non-partisan Board made up of two Independents and one organization Democrat and two Republicans, the majority consisting at no time of either Republicans or Democrats, so the Board has been non-partisan. It would be a calamity for us if the Board should become a partisan body. The Commission Government Act never intended that the Board should be partizan. There was an effort made last year to make it a partizan Board and the effort failed. The voters saw what the intent of the Law enacted last year forcing primaries on us was and they ignored it and elected Republicans, Democrats and Independents. Now, it is rather a critical situation to elect the fifth member; to have thrust upon our shoulders, without our will or consent, this responsibility. Certainly, so far as I know, no member of this Board solicited this Act of the Legislature. However, it is there, and it is not proper that the City Government should be tied up in any entanglements, any litigation or in any extended deadlocks. There should be a way to facilitate or solve this problem. The name of Mr. Howe has been presented by Mr. Raymond and Mr. Breidenbach. His name, of course, meets with the general approval of the citizens. He is highly respected; his record is one that cannot be attacked, and he was the sixth man in the last election and I will, therefore, at this time change my vote and cast the vote for John Howe.

Commissioner Gillen for John Howe.

Commissioner Raymond for John Howe.

Commissioner Breidenbach for John Howe.

Commissioner Brennan moved that the election of John Howe be declared unanimous.

The roll being called, the motion was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas: — Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Raymond, Acting Mayor Breidenbach.

Acting Mayor Breidenbach then declared Mr. Howe duly elected.

Commissioner Raymond presented the following resolution:

RESOLVED, by the Board of Commissioners of The City of Newark that under and by virtue of the provisions of Chapter 3 of the Laws of 1922, John Howe, a properly qualified person be and he hereby is elected a Commissioner of The City of Newark to serve for the unexpired term of Alexander Archibald, deceased.

F. C. Breidenbach,
Thomas L. Raymond,
William J. Brennan,
Charles P. Gillen.

The roll being called, the resolution was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas: — Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Raymond, Acting Mayor Breidenbach.

Commissioner Howe was then escorted to his chair.

Acting Mayor Breidenbach: Commissioner Howe, you have been elected by the Board of City Commissioners to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Mayor Archibald. I take great pleasure in informing you that you are now one of our colleagues.

Commissioner Howe: Mr. Mayor and fellow members, I appreciate the great honor conferred upon me and thank you for having elected me one of your colleagues. My ambition shall be to work to the best interests of all the citizens of the City of Newark, and I trust the pleasant relations existing in the past shall continue and I shall do everything in my power to accomplish that end.

The oath of office was then administered to Commissioner Howe by City Clerk Egan.

Commissioner Raymond: I take pleasure in presenting a resolution which I shall ask the Clerk to read, selecting Commissioner Breidenbach as Mayor. It gives me great pleasure to present this resolution.

RESOLVED, by the Board of Commissioners of The City of Newark, That Frederick C. Breidenbach be and he hereby is chosen to preside at all meetings of the Board of Commissioners and he shall be designated Mayor.

Thomas L. Raymond,
W. J. Brennan,
Charles P. Gillen,
John Howe.

The roll being called, the resolution was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas: — Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Howe, Raymond.

Mayor Breidenbach: Gentlemen of the Commission, I deeply appreciate

Commissioner Raymond presenting my name for the office of Mayor, and I wish to thank the members of the Board for this honor, and I do hope that our acquaintance and work for the next three and a half years will be just as pleasant as it was with Mayor Archibald. We all highly esteemed our dear beloved late Mayor, and I assure Commissioner Howe that we are one family in this Commission. We have our differences and try to settle them, and I hope the good friendship heretofore existing will continue in this Commission, and I want to thank you for this honor.

Commissioner Gillen: Mr. Mayor, having once held this hazardous position of Mayor, I certainly wish you great success. I hope the citizens of Newark will make your pathway slightly easier than the pathway some of us were forced to walk over. I mean that in all sincerity, because it is a great task; it is a very important position. The average citizen does not understand that the Mayor under Commission Government, outside of being the active responsible legal head of twelve or more departments, is called upon to perform all of the social stunts that a Mayor is called upon to perform. That means day work and night work and if the press and citizens of Newark appreciate what that great task is, they will not so readily criticise. I wish you success and I hope the City will be honored and benefited by your administration as Mayor.

Commissioner Raymond presented the following resolution:

RESOLVED, By the Board of Commissioners of The City of Newark that Commissioner John Howe, be and he hereby is designated and elected Director of the Department of Revenue and Finance.

Thomas L. Raymond,
W. J. Brennan,
F. C. Breidenbach,
Charles P. Gillen.

The roll being called, the resolution was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas: — Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Raymond, Mayor Breidenbach. Commissioner Howe not voting. Commissioner Raymond offered the following resolution:

RESOLVED, That John J. Berry be and he is hereby appointed as a member of the Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes, in the Department of Revenue and Finance, at an annual salary of Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000), to be paid semi-monthly as other salaries are paid; and the City Clerk is hereby directed to place his name on the pay roll.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 15th, 1922.

My dear Mr. Egan:

With the passing of the mayor's funeral, which, I believe was handled very well, I want to extend my thanks to the city officials for the consideration shown the newspaper men, of whom I am one. Peter O'Toole especially treated us well and catered to our needs in such a way that we got excellent photos of the event and were able to handle it well from every angle.

Yours very truly,

Ordered referred to the Director of the Department of Streets and Public Improvements.

To the Honorable
Board of Commissioners of
The City of Newark.

Gentlemen:

The Israel K. U. Verein, a corporation of New Jersey, organized not for pecuniary profit, respectfully petitions your Honorable Body for the grant of a permit to extend its cemetery to additional lands on Grain Street, at the northwest corner of South Twentieth Street, which lands are specifically blocked off on a map accompanying this petition.

Petitioner respectfully shows that the cemetery marked on map in corporate name, and in the middle of same block, has now become inadequate for the immediate and future needs of the organization, and the new and additional lands become a real necessity, and adjoin upon the old.

The Honorable Commission will note that practically the whole of the block is at present used for cemetery purposes under proper permits, and that the request of the petitioner is both reasonable and just.

Israel K. U. Verein,

The Board of Commissioners of

W. J. EGAN,
City Clerk.

NEWARK, N. J.,

February 28, 1922.

A regular meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the City of Newark, N. J., was held on the above date, in the Council Chamber, City Hall, Newark, at 11 A. M.

Present:—Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Howe, Raymond, Mayor Breidenbach.

The minutes of meeting of February 21st were read and approved.

Mayor Breidenbach:—Is there any citizen desiring to be heard by the Board on any matter?

Colonel James W. Howard, 234 Mt. Prospect Avenue, appeared before the Board and urged the establishment of an independent electric light and power plant in connection with the new Centre Market, and presented figures indicating that a Municipal Power Plant would be a great saving to the City.

Mayor Breidenbach and Commissioner Raymond thanked Colonel Howard for his interest in the matter and the information furnished.

Dr. William G. Hanrahan, 36-A Fulton Street, appeared before the Board, representing the Federation of Improvement Associations and stated his organization had gone on record as favoring Senator Parry's Bill No. 174 for the abandonment of the Morris Canal by condemnation and Assemblyman Franklin's Bill No. 61 giving Municipalities control over Jitneys and were opposed to Assemblyman Elliott's Bill regulating Jitneys and urged that the Board send telegrams to the Legislature urging that the two Bills be enacted.

Mr. Frederick Neuhaus, 567 South Orange Avenue, also urged action on the part of the Board in connection with the Bills mentioned by Dr. Hanrahan.

Mayor Briedenbach stated that the Board had already approved Assembly Bill 61 and the members of the Legislature so notified.

Commissioner Gillen moved that our representative at Trenton be requested to urge that Assembly Bill 61 be brought out of Committee and placed before the Legislature for action.

Ye-s: — Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Howe, Raymond, Mayor Breidenbach.

Paving of Devine Street from South Orange Avenue to the Irvington Line;

Paving of Hedden Terrace from Hawthorne Avenue to West Runyon Street;

Paving of Osborne Terrace from Hawthorne Avenue to Renner Avenue.

Mr. David Harper, President, Newark Housing Corporation, appeared before the Board and presented the following petition from property owners on Chancellor Avenue. Mr. Harper stated that the owners were opposed to a Parkway in the center of the street and requested that the matter be presented to the Board of Freeholders on or before next Monday.

We, the undersigned, owners or agents of the property fronting on Chancellor Avenue, between Elizabeth Avenue and the Irvington line, hereby petition the Commissioners of the City of Newark, N. J., for grading, guttering and sidewalks on said Chancellor Avenue, 48 feet roadway, 16 feet sidewalks. No parkway.

(Signed for forty-two property owners.)

Commissioner Raymond:—My Engineers and myself are opposed to parkways. We consider them very dangerous and we have decided that we would not put any more in. We are getting a resolution ready for the improvement of this street and I will have someone appear before the Board of Freeholders on Monday.

Commissioner Gillen moved that the matter be referred to the Director of Streets and Public Improvements.

The roll being called, the motion was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas: — Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Howe, Raymond, Mayor Breidenbach.

Commissioner Raymond: — With reference to the ordinance for the opening of Haynes Avenue, I would like to say that I have decided to withdraw the ordinance. I feel the arguments presented are absolutely convincing and I feel this is no time to undertake this project and I will lay it over indefinitely and bring it up at some other time when conditions are better and the business men are better able to pay these charges. I will also later on demolish the original ordinance of 1914 for that part of Haynes Avenue.

Commissioner Raymond moved that the ordaining clause of an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the opening of a street to be known as Haynes Avenue extending from Doremus Avenue in a general southwesterly direction to Bay Avenue, for a width of 100 feet," be stricken out.

Office of the City Clerk

Newark, N. J., February 27, 1922.
To the Honorable

Board of Commissioners.
Gentlemen:—

At a legislative conference held this day, Assembly Bill 231 was taken up and on motion referred to your Honorable Board for consideration.

Respectfully yours,

W. J. Egan,
City Clerk.

Corporation Counsel Congleton: Assembly Bill 85 is evidently intended to take care of one particular case and provides where an employe has served 25 years and reached the age of 70 years he may retire or be retired on one-half the pay he is then receiving.

Commissioner Raymond moved the bill be approved.

The roll being called, the motion was declared adopted by the following votes:

Yeas: — Commissioners Brennan, Gillen, Howe, Raymond, Mayor Breidenbach.

Corporation Counsel Congleton: Assembly Bill 231 by Mr. Franklin, is a general pension bill for all municipal employes other than police and fire.

Commissioner Brennan: I might say I am in favor of this bill if it is the bill I understand it to be. I believe inasmuch as the police and fire department and other city employees have a pension system I see no reason why all other employees should not have the same.

Commissioner Raymond: I think it should be provided that if a person is in good health that he should continue to work. I do not believe that any one should be retired if he is in good health and able to work at the age of 60.

Commissioner Howe: I would not vote for this bill if it would retire tax clerks at the age of fifty, because the best clerks we have are between 50 and 60 years of age.

Commissioner Brennan moved that the Board adopt the principle of the bill.
